could be certainly distinguished from any other hair.

Drs. Meyer and Curtis occupied the remainder of the session. Their testimony was in the same line as that of the preceding expert.

A man named Martin came to Judge McConneil this afternoon, and said he had knowledge of great value to the prisoner Coughlin, namely, that he (Martin) had seen Coughlin between 9 and 10 o'clock on the night of May 4th at the East Chicagoavenue police station. He kept quiet about this before because he did not want to be mixed up in the case, but his conscience would not allow him to keep silent longer. He will probably be placed on the stand tomorrow.

LAWLESS TEXAS.

FEDERAL AUTHORITY DEFIED IN YOUNG COUNTY.

Prisoners Killed by a Mob-Prominent Officials of the County Indicted for Inciting Crime.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 .- By the Assoc ated Press.! Attorney-General Miller has received a long report from the United States Marshal of the Northern District of Texas regarding the difficulty of administering Federal laws, in consequence of a feeling of hostility on the part of certain State officials. The trouble arose from steps taken by Federal officers for the protection of the four Mariowe brothers, held as Government witnesses. A portion of the community be-respect for such process must cease. The municipal government of Young county not only fails to provide a suitable jail for the use of the United States Court, but its officers are in violent aniagonism thereto. He does not see how they can avoid the necessity of armed men at Graham during the sessions of the United States Court, and makes an appeal that Congress remove the court to some other point.

CLOSED ITS DOORS. A Pittsburgh Bank Forced to Suspend Payments.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—The Lawrence

Morgan forced the fighting at the start, but in the third round was pushed into his corner by White's hard work. In the fourth round Morgan made another rush, and received a blow that drew a quantity of blood. From this time on White showed himself the better man, and began forcing the fighting.

In the thirty-second round White delivered a blow which knocked Morgan senseless, but his trainers managed to get their man up before time was called. Morgan was a pittable sight, both eyes being nearly closed and his body a mass of bruises and cuts. White showed few marks. From the thirty-eighth to the fifty-fourth round the fight was more one-sided than ever, consisting of mad rushes by Morgan, who was mearly blind, and quick, sayage blows by White.

In the middle of the fifty-fourth round the land work was made and nearly a quarter of a million was drawn, but hundreds of workmen still have all their savings in the bank, and great excite-

He has been famous for his gifts to charitable and benev-olent institutions, having disbursed over $600,000 in this manner during his life. It is understood that his will bequeaths that much more for similar purposes.

Powderly's Explanation.
ATLANTA (Ga.), Nov. 21.—Powderly says of the case alleged to have been brought of the case alleged to have been brought against him by Callahan that it grows out of a newspaper attack upon him made by Callahan and is probably instigated by McGaw, recently expelled from the order. He also intimated that the Reading Railroad is behind the charges.

A Turfman Murdered. NEWARK (N. J.), Nov. 21.—Henry Wurtman, aged 34, employed by Dwyer Bros. at their racetrack at North Elizabeth, was murdered tonight by some colored men, also employed there, one of whom has been ar-rested. Wurtunan won considerable money today, and it is supposed robbery was the motive of the murder. The Evolution Fleet VINEYARD HAVEN (Mass.), Nov. 21.— The Chicago, Boston, Atlanta and Yorktown passed here this morning.

New Phase of the Base-Ball Controversy.

The National League Issues a Long Address.

Denouncing the "Conspiracy of the Brotherhod."

The Buying and Selling of Players Explained--The Alleged Profits of the National Game Illustrated.

National Base-ball League has issued a lengthy address to the public, defining the position of that organization in the present base-ball controversy. The address glorifies the work of the National League for the past 14 years, setting forth at great length how it has rescued the national game from a slough of corruption and disgrace into which it had fallen in professional playing prior to 1876. It tells of all the reforms the league has accomplished, and how it has brought base-ball to a high standard; how the salaries of players have more than trebled, and a higher degree of skill has been attained.

Speaking of the causes of complaint it says: "The reserve rule was adopted for the benefit of weaker clubs as a check upon competition, and that the weaker clubs might have the nucleus of teams for next season. The system proving beneficial the reservation arose releases for pecuniary considerations, but except in the cases of disbanding or retring clubs the right of a club's claim has never been transferred without the players' coperation and consent. In the exceptional case of disbandment or retirement of a league club of which complaint was made by the brother-hood in 1877, a committee of players after conterence was oblised to admit that such involuntary transfer was absolutely essential to the welfare of the league."

The address calls attention to the fact that the new players' league has given "extraordinary power" of transferring players with or without consent or club disbandment to the central tribunal 'f. 16 directors, and says: "In view of these facts the use of the league. This contract has never been violated by the league in letter or spirit."

Regarding the alleged "enormous profits" of league clubs the address says: "During the past five, and only prosperous years the league has know, there has been paid in cash dividends to the stackholders in the eight league clubs the same time the league players have received in salaries over $1.500.00.

The siddress says the brother-hood.

tion while receiving liberal salaries from their supployers. They secured the signatures of a number of their brother players under the false promise that they would only secede in the event of the league reliable them justice and for some time after the publication of their conspiracy. September 7th, they and their abettors denied that there was any foundation for the story and repeatedly piedged their word that the league should have a chance."

The address concludes from all this "that an edifice built on faisehoods has no moral foundation and must perish of its own weight. The league will aid its clubs in enforcing contract rights, and will continue to do business as heretofore."

Brotherhood Players Secured. CHICAGO, Nov. 21.-Fred Pfeffer has secured the signatures of Duffy, Ryan, Farrell, Darling, Tener, Baldwin, King, Dwyer, Bastian, Latham and Williamson to play in the Chicago brotherhood team next year, Pfeffer, when shown the address of the National League tonight, denied that there is anything in the brotherhood contract, as alleged by the league managers, compelling the transfer of players from one club to another. Oakland Shut Out, SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The San Franciscos defeated the Oaklands this afternoon by a score of two to nothing. This is the first time a California club has succeeded in shutting out the Oaklands. The game was one of the best of the season and was full of snap from beginning to end. Both teams fielded with almost erroriess accuracy, but Clark's pitching proved too much for the Oaklands.

SULLIVAN AND JACKSON. San Jose Now Bids for a Battle Between the Bruisers. San Francisco, Nov. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] Sporting Editor Daley of the Illustrated World tonight sent the fol-lowing dispatch to John L. Sullivan:

"I am authorized by the San José Athletic Club Association to offer $15,000 for a finish fight with Peter Jackson. Respond." Boston, Nov. 21.—John L. Sullivan was Boston, Nov. 21.—John L. Sullivan was seen today in relation to the $10,000 offer of the California Athletic Club. He said: "The California Athletic Club know what I offered them when I was asked to go out there, and that is just what I will do. I will meet the colored fighter at their club rooms if a purse of $20,000 is hung up, and that is my final answer. I am willing to meet any man they not against me but they meet any man they put against me, but must carry out the deal about Jackson must carry out the deal about Jackson now or it will cost them more money when they come to talk it over again."

Tonight Sullivan reconsidered his decision and said he would fight Jackson in San Francisco for a $15,000 purse.

Sullivan said: "I intend to purchase a farm within ten miles of Boston and give my whole attention to raising horses. I don't care whether I fight again or not. I have plenty of money, although they say I am broke."

Tax Case Appealed.

RENO, Nov. 21.—The Central Pacific Railroad Company has taken the Washoe county tax case, which the Supreme Court of Nevada decided in favor of the State, up to the Supreme Court of the United States on proceedings in error. The case concern taxes on the surveyed and unpatented lands belonging to the Central Pacific.

John E Lattemore Being Tried

Second Time.
The second trial of John E. Lattemore (colored) on a charge of perjury began in Judge Cheney's court yester-day morning. It will be remembered that Lattemore was originally tried on a charge of arson, it being alleged that he had set fire to buildings on A. B. Chapman's ranch east of the city. He was acquitted of the charge, mainly on evidence of his own, by which he threw suspicion on a Mexican named Jesus Tallano, as being the guilty person.
Afterward evidence was procured by Detective Marsh going to show that Lattemore had perjured himself, and a complaint was issued. Under it he was examined and tried, with the result that the jury disagreed. Since that time he has been lying in jail suit that the jury disagreed. Since that time he has been lying in jail awaiting his second trial. It took all the morning to get a jury, and in the atternoon a few witnesses were examined. The prosecution is introducing testimony to prove what Lattemore swore to at the preceding arson trial, and will follow that up by witnesses showing that he swore falsely in regard to Jesus Tallane. He is being defended by Grant and Bowers, while Mr. McComas is conducting the prosecution. The case will be resumed this morning. sumed this morning.

HIS MEDICINE.

W. O. Wheeling, the Murderer, Will Give In. Wayne O. Wheeling has decided to take his medicine, whatever it may be, from Judge Cheney. He was brought before him yesterday for sentence, and his counsel requested a continuance until Monday next. They stated that they do not expect to apply for a new trial, and if the continuance was granted would make no further opposition to the sentence. This practically settles the question that the murder of William Tweedy will spend a certain number of years as to what Judge Cheney will do, in view of the recommendation of the jury for clemency, but he has of course given no intimations as to that. He may get 10 years or less. Quite a number of persons think the sentence will be forced. Wayne O. Wheeling has decided to bars at Folsom or San Quentin. There are numerous speculations as to what Judge Cheney will do, in view of the recommendation of the jury for clemency, but he has of course given no intimations as to that. He may get 10 years or less. Quite a number of persons think the sentence will be for about five or six years. about five or six years.

There was very little else talked about on the streets of the city yester

Grand Jury, and there remains scarcely any doubt that one of the indictments returned for blackmail was against H.

In his usual suave manner, Boyce told his perturbed midalight visitor that some persons had come to him with a story that on a certain night he had gone to a house of ill repute, where he had contracted a leathsome disease.

Justice Savage immediately denounced the story as false, and Boyce sat back in his chair, looking at him, and smiling oleaginously. After a short pause he said that the story came to him from persons who vouched for it. He added that one of them was a lawyer, and that they had offered him $250 to publish an article charging Justice Savage with dissolute conduct, and mentioning this incident.

Justice Savage continued to insist that the charge was absolutely untrue; that it was infamous, and if published, no matter whether true or not, would cause his family suffering, and as a matter of justice to hismall was did deserme.

no matter whether true or not, would cause his family suffering, and as a matter of justice to himself asked that there be no publication until the whole thing was thoroughly investigated, stating that delay could hurt no one and would result in Boyce ascertaining that the charge was untrue.

To this Boyce replied that his informants had gtated the facts circumstantially, and again said that they had offered $250 to have them published. Then he added that it was a business proposition. Here he had been offered a certain sum to have a certain article published. If he left it out it would be "only fair" that he should not lose anything by doing so, and he ought to receive the same amount that he had been offered by the others.

In a short time Boyce went to San Francisco, where it is supposed he now is. Before going, he told one of his officer men if they got hard up to go to Justice Savage for $100. The demand he was made, and the Justice declined to pay it. After Boyce came back he sent another demand for money, and by this time Justice Savage had determined to secure documentary evidence with which to confront his tormentor. He wrote a check for $25 and a personal note, stating that he was unable to call in person, therefore sent a check. The check was made payable to order. Copies of these documents were taken by Justice Savage's clerk, Mr. Mallette, and then the check and note were delivered to Boyce, who received them himself and kept them.

The check, however, was never cashed, as far as Justice Savage knows, because it never came back to him through his bank, although Boyce kept it. He probably feared a trap, and attempted to avoid it.

Later, however, being pressed continually for means to meet the expenses of the Tribune, he made constant demands for money, the mes-

About this time he was made an aide-de-camp on Gov. Waterman's staff, and essayed to take charge of the gubernatorial person and interests. His Excellency was then possessed of the notion that Mr. Boyce was a superior person; he has since changed his mind.

In 1367 he went into land specula-tion, and was the head and front of the notorious "Gladstone" scheme, which turned out disastrously, involvwhich turned out disastrously, involving himself and others financially. For exposing this scheme Boyce brought various libel suits against The Times, aggregating $450,000. He was not enriched thereby.

Later, and before his eyes had been opened, Mr. Waterman undertook to make Mr. Boyce a brigadler-general in the California National Guard, but the Senate would not have it so. His record was produced, and the opposition from all sides in that body was so strehuous that the Governor was compelled to withdraw Boyce's name, and he fell down.

He had undertaken to acquire membership in the Military Order of the bership in the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, but was denied. The standard of membership was too high to permit of the acceptance of his name.

In 1888 Mr. Boyce, still hankering after political honors and fame, aspired to an election as delegate to the National Republican Convention, but could not reach the goal. Henry T. Gage and H. Z. Osborne were the delegates from Los Angeles.

In the spring of that year he sued The Times and Clarence J. Richards, his former partner in land transactions, for certain publications exposing a devious deal on his part, inactions, for certain publications exposing a devious deal on his part, intoviving an "irregularity" of $10,000 to the injury of Richards. Three suits of $50,000 each were brought. The first trial took place in September, 1 1888, before Judge O'Melveny and a jury. Stephen M. White. Esq., and Henry T. Gage, Esq., were counsel for the Times-Mirror Company and Mr. Richards, and Boyce got a verdict of one dollar ($1) for damages to his character.

his place with the loss of $5000, took charge himself, and shortly succeeded in turning the concern over to the Sheriff.

Boyce's newspaper and personal methods steadily becoming worse, gradually the Tribune, which at one time, during the boom, had some prospect of being successful, became more deeply involved under the amateur's personal management, until it has been brought to the verge of financial ruin, and is now on the ragged edge of dishonorable dissolution.

There has been a series of failures

There has been a series of failures all along the line.

The notable events in Boyce's tortuous career during 1889 are his fraudulent Lower California mining fake, his unsuccessful Ballona outfall campaign, his preposterous flasco in his violous unsuccessful Ballona cutfall campaign, his preposterous flasco in his vicious raid on the Soldiers' Home, and his latest achievement, to wit, the black-mailing of a sitting justice of one of our courts to the pitiful amount of $250. For this he has been arraigned before the great inquisition of the county, the Grand Jury, and, it is reliably stated, has been indicated by a unanimous vote. "AND THE NEXT DAY IT SNOWED!"

THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS TAKES ITS WEEKLY RIDE,

Committee With Instructions to Give the Board Points-A Number of Places Visited.

There was quite a line of carriages following the Board of Public Works rollowing the Board of Fuelle Works webliele yesterday on the trip of inspection about the city. The addition to the regular party was a committee from the West End Board of Trade, who were desirous of showing the board a number of points at which improvements could be made in the vicinity of Temple street.

The party started on the tour at 1:30 o'cleck from the City Hall, and pro-ceeded to the Aliso-street bridge, and crossing the same took a look at the laying of the cable company's track Amother Big Crowd at Armory Hall

Last Night.

Armory Hall contained a still larger crowd of visitors to the Orphans' Fair last evening than on either of the two nights preceding. During the day the attendance was also good, and the ladies did a nice business at the dinner hour. A Spanish dinner was served yesterday, and all who visited the dining-room pronounced it excellent, and promised to revisit the restaurant department. Today a fish dinner will be the principal dish on

Tonight the programme will be an especially interesting one. A number of fine selections will be given by the orchestra, and there will either be a series of tableaux or a special concert. If the latter, the ladies announce that Miss Jennie Winston, Miss Cowper and several gentlemen who are well known as accomplished vocalists will appear.

At 9:30 o'clock the grand march, as taken from Bixet street to the drive was then taken over the bills to the Westlake Park, where the work of improving that locality was inspected. The grass, and trees recently planted was found to be growing nicely and in a short time the work of improvement will be accomplished.
With the Seventh-street bridge as an objective point the board started from Nich and Pearl and proceeded by way of Eighth, San Pedro and Seventh streets to the desired point.

At 9:30 o'clock the grand march, as given on the opening night, with all the ladies in costume, will again be gone through.

But two days more and the fair will be over, and every one who has not given at least one evening to it, should make it a point to go. There are many things of interest to be seen, and the object for which the fair is held is one that is worthy of patronage from all. over Seventh street until the building

The board then drove up to the site upon which the home is being constructed, and over Boyle avenue to First street, and thence to the city.

A petition from K. Kohn & Co., owners of the Temple block, was looked into. It was one of the most important upon which the board decided. The petitioners and their tenants have long been annoyed by the constant noise made by vehicles over the granite block pavement on Main street, and they asked permission to lower the blocks two inches and cover them with asphaltum or bituminous rock to a depth sufficient to bring the street up to grade. It was thought desirable to

MORE TALK ABOUT THE COM-ING OF THE UNION PAGIFIC.

8. B. Hynes Returns Home, but He Has Nothing to Say-Two Union Angeles-The Vanderbilt People to Be Here Tomorrow - News from the North.

The Santa Fé people evidently know more about the coming of the Union Pacific to Los Angeles than they care to let out. General Freight and Passen ger Agent Hynes of that company arrived from Chicago yesterday morning, where he was in consultation with the main men of the two great companies Santa Fé's lines from Barstow to Los Angeles was made. Mr. Hynes was seen by a represen-tative of THE TIMES yesterday, but he declared he knows nothing about the latest railroad sensation. If the Santa Fé people could be induced to talk, it is almost certain that they could tell all about the coming of the

Another dispatch was received by the Associated Press night before last from ton stating that the officials of the Union Pacific have given out publicly that they will extend the road to Southern California as soon as possible, and that Los Angeles and Redondo will be the terminal points. The wording of the dispatch is such that no one can have any doubts, and all who know the Associated Press are aware that it never makes mistakes. Next Sunday two of the directors of the Union Pacific, who are now in San Francisco, will be down here; but what they are coming for no one seems to know. It is understood that they will spend sev-eral days looking over the southern country.

The Vanderbilt party will come in on a special tomorrow. They will remain here until Saturday, when they will go down to San Diego for a few days.

Wednesday's Chronicle says: Wednesday's Chronicle says:

the Santa Fe's substantial recognition of Redondo, it looks as if that per will have a bir future before it.

Imitating the example of the Southern Pacific tha Unitor Pacific has arranged for a tast overland from Chicago to Pertiand, making the time between the two cities a little over three days. The route east of Chicago will be over the Chicago and Northwestern lines.

Riverside citizens are again agitating for a branch line from the Southern Pacific. Some time ago the company promised that if the right of way from Riverside to San Bernardino via Colton were granted, with sufficient ground for depots at the two first cities, cars would be running between them in 60 days. The right of way was quickly secured, but the depot grounds were not obtained, and so the matter was dropped. It is now being revived, with a likelinood of successful termination. In view of the present location of the insane asylum, this extension is highly important. The original route as projected is as follows: From the main line to Slover Mountain, down on the west side of the Santa Ana River, cross the river west of Riverside and just south of the Rubidoux Mountain, with the depot in the Terquaguite Arroyo, south of town on the avenue leading to Arlington. The line to San Bernardino was to branch from the main line just east of Colton and come up Warm Creek, with a proposed depot at the east end of Third street, just outside the city limits.

Mrs. Nelson's Suit for $10,000 Knocked Out.

A curious damage suit was tried before Judge Clark yesterday in Department No. 2 of the Superior Court in which Emil Harris was sued for $10,000 damages by H. Davis, on a charge of false imprisonment. The occurrences leading up to the suit date back as far as the winter of 1887, and did not originally involve Mr. Davis. In December, 1887, Roberts's jewelry store on Main street was burglar-

In December, 1887, Roberta's jewelry store on Main street was burglarized, and a number of articles of jewelry stolen. At first no trace could be discovered of the burglars or the "swag;" and, in fact, the burglars were never caught. At that time Harris and W. H. Russell were deputies under Sheriff Kays, and worked on the case. In pursuit of their inquiries they visited a number of places where they thought they might obtain a trace of the missing property. Finally at a merchandise store on North Main street, kept by Mrs. C. Nelson, a silver fish fork was discovered in the sleeve of a coat. The officers suspected that Mrs. Nelson's place was a "fence" for the reception of stolen goods, and further inquiries revealed the fact that the fish fork had been stolen from Naud's warehouse. In the mean time a shipment of goods was made by Mrs. Nelson to an agent of hers at San Diego, Mr. Davis, who had formerly run a branch store for her at San Pedro. The information obtained by the officers led to the arrest of Mrs. Nelson and of Davis, the goods at San Diego being attached by some of his creditors. Mrs. Nelson went into insolvency, and her creditors, by Messrs. Graves, O'Melveny & Shankland, replevined the goods. Among them were found several of the articles stolen from Roberts's jewelry store. The goods were found to belong to Mrs. Nelson, and when this was developed Davis was released from custody. Mrs. Nelson claimed that she was an innocent purchaser and did not know they were stolen.

THE EDELMANS.

The Bail Fixed and Defendants

Released, Henry Edelman was served with the bench warrants in 15 additional indictments returned against him, and yes-T. Gage of his counsel for a reduction of the bail. Judge Wade, before whon the case is pending, heard the applica-tion, and made an order allowing the defendant to go on his own recognizance until disposition of the other indictments. The order was made for the reason that Edelman is aiready under a $40,000 bond for the 24 indictments formerly found against him, and the additional bond necessary under the fresh indictments would be $7500. The Court considered the bond aiready up sufficient to secure the attendance of the defendant at his trial, particularly as the new indictments cover the same subject matter as the old. The confusion accruing over the Edelman and Montaño indictments is becoming a subject of general comment in legal circles, and many questions are asked as to what can be the object of the Grand Jury in firing in batches of fresh indictments covering exactly the same subject matter. until disposition of the other indictindictments covering exactly the same subject matter.

Montafio's bail on the new indictment was reduced by Judge Cheney yesterday to $1000, which was furnished and he was released. The District Attorney did not yesterday inform his counsel upon which indictment he expects to try Montafio, but will probably do so today.

BLACKMAIL.

Society forms very varying opinions as to the heinousness of different crimes — opinions which frequently materially change the rule of precedence observed in the Decalogue.
With some people one crime, with others another, is the object of especial aversion; but there is one which all respectable persons agree to regard with deep abhorrence. That is BLACK-MAIL, a crime which takes its name from the color of the armor worn by those old freebooters who, during the Middle Ages, levied toll upon travelers

"The good old rule, the simple plan.
That he shall take who has the power—
That he shall keep, who can."

There is, however, little comparison between the actions of the old robber chiefs and the methods of the modern blackmailer. They made little or no concealment of their proceedings, and the lawless condition of society at the time they flourished gave them almost an excuse for existence, the superiority of might over right being very gen-erally recognized. Moreover, they had generous impulses, and were often rather popular than otherwise among the poor people. They would certainly have felt extremely mortified could they have foreseen that their name would have been applied to the modern blackmatler, that disgusting creature who lurks in dark corners, and, buz-zard-like, fattens upon offal. Beside the newspaper blackmailer of the nineteenth century the medieval robber chief appears quite a noble being.

Even among blackmailers there are. however, degrees of depravity—there are deeper depths beneath the lower levels. A Journal which builds itself up by extracting hundreds of thousands of dollars as blood money from some powerful corporation which is transgressing the laws of the country, excites among the unthinking a certain amount of admiration for its boldness.

The case with which we now have to deal is of a far different character. It is an action which is essentially and late purity—its superjer adaptability to family use—to be caught threatening a citizen with the publication of a story that he had contracted a loathsome disease in a house of prestitu-tion, unless $250 hush money was paid, is certainly getting about as low as a man can get and stay above

To some who have not watched the devious career of this desperate man, the revelation will come in the nature of a great surprise. Those who do of a great surprise. Those who do know him are only surprised that this community should so long have harbored and treated with consideration a person who is known to be unfit to associate among gentlemen, and has been frequently so characterized in energetic if not picturesque terms.

A paper which is used for such base surposes as that for which Boyce has been using the Tribune is a danger to the community and a disgrace to journalism. It has no more right to existence than a venomous creature. Its extirpation is a simple act of self-preservation, which society owes to itself.

COLORED MEN ASK JUSTICE.

The Central Bureau of Relief of of colored men, has issued an appeal, in which a free and equal exercise of with 15 rooms to furnish wine and ored American citizen in the United system in this manner is a plain ad- called to the fact that in the Southern States the colored citizen is prevented from exercising the rights of an American, and the active sympathy of the people of the United States is invoked. The bureau has issued a call for a national convention, to be held at Washington in February, 1890. The objects to be attained by the convention are stated as follows: First—To organize a national association of colored American citizens, by which a united and continuous effort shall be made to relieve them from the personal outrages inflicted upon them in the Southern States, and to obtain all the rights of American citizens now denied them in parts of this country.

itizens now denied them in parts of the country.

Second—To ascertain the opposing influences that retard the growth of their deducational, moral and material interests.

Third—To invoke Congress to pass such legislation as will enable the colored Americans to exercise the right of franchise in the Southern States without fear or molestation; to pass the Blair Educational Bill, and also pass a bill to pay the depositors of the Freedman's Bank in full of their deposits.

A DISPATCH from the City of Mexico states that Ellis, the Texas negro who proposes to colonize the American neroes in Mexico, is still in that city, striving to secure a concession from the Government in the interest of the proposed colony. It asserted that Gen. Pacheco, Minister of Public Works, is greatly interested in Ellis's plans, and is heartily in favor of granting the concession. Other members of the Government are also said to favor t, so there seems to be little doubt that the concession will be given and the colony established. The however, will meet, with strong opposition on the part of the Mexican people, and negre colonists are not likely to receive any encouraging welcome. The feeling is general that in the Indian peon class Mexico has as large an element of a different race as it can find room for.

Felix Morris is a revelation of new talents in every part he undertakes. Courtenay Thorpe grows in favor each night. The ladies of the company all appear in the last plece of the evening, and present a bevy of grace and beauty seldom seen on a single stage.

It is a little singular that the andiences have not been larger. Miss Vokes has always played to crowded houses in the East, and neither she nor her company have lost any of their ability. The pieces are admirably staged, attention being paid to the smallest details. The performances are full of fun, without coarseness, and are acted with a refinement and intelligence second to no other company that has ever visited ios Angeles. This comparative neglect on the part of the public, for there is no reason why the house should not be filled to the doors, may be considered by many to reflect upon the dramatic taste of our citizens, and such an imputation should be at once disproved. It should not be in the power of any one to say that A Brass Monkey draws crowded houses here, while such an attraction as we now have is playing to half-filled benches. The three such an attraction as we now have is play-ing to half-filled benches. The three comedictas given last night will be re-peated this evening.

THE CASE OF BOYCE.

Contemporary Utterances-Black

is an action which is essentially and completely dirty, disgraceful, shameful and disgusting.

It has been generally known that H. II. Boyce has used his private organ as a means of extorting money from the ambitious and foolish, under promise of worthless "support," but only those who are aware of the man's utterly bad and despicable character could have believed that he would be guitty of such an action as that with which the Grand Jury charges him. remarks are called forth by an indictment, which was reported by the Grand Jury yesterday, against Gen. H. H. Boyce, the managing editor and principal stockholder of the Tribune Publishing Company, for the grave crime of blackmail.

We have no desire to be harsh in our comments on this gentleman in connection with circumstances which, if they have been rightly reported, show a marked degree of turpitude. Now that the seal of secrecy has been taken from the action of the Grand Jury, and that a bench warrant has presumably been issued by the Court, reference to the asserted facts of the case is permissible. The ground for the indictment runs about as follows: Gen. Boyce is reported to have approached Justice Savage, a young and promising gentleman who fills the office of Towna person who is known to be unfit to associate among gentlemen, and has been frequently so characterized in energetic if not picturesque terms.

This is certainly a far more reasonable cause for surprise than the fact that he has at length been caught, red-handed, in one of his nefarious transactions.

A paper which is used for such base the facts in this alleged disgraceful occurrence, so the story runs, Gen. Boyce demanded $250. Shocked and dismayed, for the moment Justice Savage yielded to the desire to spare his young wife the pain of such a publication, although he felt himself to be innocent, and he paid Gen. Boyce $50 on account, promising to pay the balance later.

LONDON, NOV. 21.—[By Calle and Associated Press.] Mackinnon, head of the Emin Pasha Relief Committee, has received a cablegram from Henry M. Stanley, announcing his arrival at Mpwapwa, and stating that he expects to reach Zanzibar in the matter to his wife, who knew now groundless the charge was. He told the boy that he must bring a note from Gen. Boyce before he would pay over the money, and the note came in due order. Holding it as documentary evidence, Savage turned on his prosecutor and bade him do his worst.

Here is an outline which chills the blood of any honest and self-respecting newspaper man. The act of Boyce, if the story be true, makes piracy seem a trivial offense. It is not an exact reproduction of the Shakespearean sentiment, "He who steals my purse steals trash; 'twas something, nothing,' twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands; but he who robs me of my good name steals that which not enriches him, but leaves me poor indeed." In this case Boyce appears to have got $50. The offense, if it was committed, is intensified by the fact that the Tribune has always put on the airs of a specially goody-goody journal. that the Tribune has always put on the airs of a specially goody-goody journal.

Every honorable newspaper man in California is called upon to condemn such an infamous prostitution of journalism, and the Herald acquits itself of this task without malice and as dispassionately as the circumstances of the case would warrant. Not tostamp in severe terms the atrocity of such a crime would be to prove recreant to our duty as journalists.

Stanley made an unexpected discovery of the case would warrant. Not tostamp in severe terms the atrocity of such a crime would be to prove recreant to our duty as journalists.

ylka. The area of the extension is 28,000 miles.

Stanley has with him 750 persons, of whom 220 are Emin's followers. Stanley lost only 18 men during the march from Victoria Nyanza. He had four days' fighting near Usukama.

Stanley, in a letter to the British Consul at Zanzibar, tells of the hard time the expedition has had and how many of his people have died off. South of Victoria Nyanza there was continuous fighting for four days. The natives took an unaccountable prejudice against Emin's people, insisting that they were cannibals. Talking was useless, as any attempt to disprove their impression only drove them into a white heat of rage, and in their mad hate they flung themselves upon Stanley's forces and suffered severe losses.

Victoria Nyanza, Stanley saya, is 1900 square miles larger than reported by Speke, whose statement regarding the size of the lake was supposed to be an exaggeration. During the year 1888-789 the following expenditures were made: Repairs on vesels at navy-yards, $173,334; construction and repairs, $779,943; labor at navy-yards and stations, material, etc., $140,205; at civil establishments, $19,935; repairs of vessels, $120,164; increase of the navy, $748,137.

The Commodore presents a lengthy argument in favor of increasing the efficiency of the navy-yards as indicated in the estimates, saying that this great Nation should not close any navy-yards. The report says: "After eight or nine years there will be no wood fossils remaining in active service. Adeficiency appropriation will be necessary in order that the work of construction and repair may be carried on during the remainder of the present fiscal year without interruption." The single-turreted monitors are said to be now in a worse than useless state, and the report recommends that something be done with them. To put them into a condition for efficient service in harbor and coast defense will cost, it is estimated, $450,000. There are 13 of these monitors. Commodore Wilson calls attantion to the difficulty of satisfactory buds for the continuated, $450,000. There are 13 of these monitors, 21 steel cruisers or gunboats, two dynamic cruisers, a practice cruiser for cadets, an atmored ram, one first-class torpedo; both and seven iron steamers. The work of rebuilding the past six months are a sufficient of the service and some air rapidly and of its energy and success in the performance of the task. The vessels already under contract and building at the navy-yards are rapidly and elem an offense so repulsive to every decent newspaper man as that for which he is indicted has never been committed. In the mean time, the Express must continue to print the news as it comes along, "bold and manly," as our con-temporary would say, and without fear or favor. A Proclamation Issued Decreeing

The final details of the deal were furnished late this afterneon, and the contract was duly signed by the proper officers of the interested companies. By the terms of the contract the Rock Island and the Atchison bind themselves to the operation of a frough line, to be known as the Rock Island

"Resolved, that the congress welcomes the United States of Brazil into the sisterhood of American republics."

After the introduction of the resolution Delegate Hurtado of Colombia moved that the resolution be tabled, as it was not proper for delegates to recognize a new government in the absence of instructions from their own governments. This was seconded by several delegates.

Mr. Henderson said he was sorry to place any other representative in an awkward position, but as far as he was concerned he should hall wift equal pleasure the announcement that Spain or England, or any other monarchy, had adopted republican institutions. If this great change had been accomplished in Brazil without bloodshed and her representatives were here, why wait for an announcement that the Republic had been formally recognized by other governments?

The Chilan delegate agreed with Henderson's idea generally, but felt constrained to postpone the matter out of regard for the

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] On Thesday evening A. R. Lilly was arrested for defrauding a boarding-house keeper out of three weeks' board. A search of his effects disclosed a leiter addressed to a prominent San Francisco physician, who is proprietor of a drug store on Market street, to the following effect:

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Aug. 14.

Dear Sir: I wish you to distinctly understand that I will not listen to your proposition for one moment. I may be a poor man, but am not a firebug, and do not intend to set your store on fine so that you may obtain the insurance. Yours, etc.,

Lilly admitted that he had been offered money by the physician referred to. Lilly said he came from Chicago to Los Angeles about five months ago, and to San Francisco in July, when he obtained a situation in the Doctor's store. Early in August the Doctor proposed that Lilly should set fire to the store, offering him a sum of money. Lilly said he would consider the matter. Ten days later the Doctor renewed the proposition, this time paying him $55 and promising $250 when the store should be burned. Lilly then went to Santa Cruz, whence he wrote the letter. He engaged in business there, but was unsuccessful and came to San José. O'He did not get work and was arrested. He says the letter was a copy of one he mailed. Sheriff Sweigert and Marshall Lowe decline as yet to give the Doctor's name.

Fifteen Persons Perish by the Sinklng of a Tugboat.

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—(By the Assoclated Press.) The Chronicle's special from Drain, Douglas county, Or., says: The tug Fearless of Coos Bay, Capt. James Hill commanding, ran on to the North Spit at the mouth of the Umpqua River on Tuesday evening and soon went to pieces. Not one of the crew or passengers escaped. She was on the return trip from Astoria, where she had been with a load of Chinamen who had been discharged from the Coos Bay canneries. At 3p.m. on Tuesday she was seen off Upper Ten Mile steaming slowly down the coast just outside the breakers, which were running very high, and at 6 o'clock her whistle was heard off the mouth of the Umpqua. An hour later she gave three sharp whistles, which was the last seen or heard of her until the next morning, when her pilot-house, with the end stove in, and numerous small pieces, were discovered coming up the river with the tide.

The steamer Juno at once steamed down the river and put a searching party ashore, and the beach was patrelled for miles to the south, but no bodies were discovered.

Other parties who came down the coast from the north reported that they had seen no bodies in that direction. The general opinion of seafaring men is that the tug sprang a leak, and the captain was attempting to get into the river in order to save the lives of those on board, and either miscalculated his position or was blown out of his course by a heavy wind.
The number of lives loat is said to be from Over two years ago he met a young man giving the name of E. Glencross Grant, who had identified himself with the Y.M.C.A. here. Montgomery took an interest in him, and finally formed a partnership with him in the agrigomery took an interest in him, and finally formed a partnership with him in the agricultural implement business. A company was formed, known as the Buil & Grant Farm Implement Company, with stores here and at Los Angeles. Grant was placed in charge of the Los Angeles store, and Mr. Montgomery, who—furnished the capital, has recently dissovered that Grant has contracted debts, and has also appropriated the proceeds of the sale of machinery, amounting to about $80,000. Grant's record has been looked up, and it has been discovered that his name is Glencross, and that he committed similar offenses in London and fled to this country. His whereabouts now are unknown. Montgomery announces that he finds it necessary to make an assignment on account of Grant's fraudulent transactions. His liabilities are about $220,000, and assets $318,000.

"I met E. Glencross Grant over two and a half years ago, when he was out of work and out of money," said Mr. Montgomery this afternoon. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—By the Associated Press, I At the monthly meeting of the Grape-growers' and Wine-makers' Association today Commissioner Wetmore complained that grocerymen and small merchants, instead of catering to the true demand of the people, were engaged in pushing their own especial brands, and, on hi motion, a committee was appointed to secure some redress.

A discussion arose over the action of the growers in sending their shipments directly east to dealers, instead of through intermidiate agents or dealers bere. Chairman de Turk stated that he himself was compelled to do this, because he could not sell his wines here. He did not see that such action had anything to do with the reports of inferior California wines. The trouble was that the wine merchants here got rich so fast that they bought up vineyards and established their own cellars.

The Salt Lake Tribune of last Thursday says: Eight Austrian and Italian noblemen, en route eastward across the continent, arrived at the Walker House yesterday. They were unfortunate enough to lose $3000 at Ogden in the morning, in this way: Their financial agent laid his coat down in his berth in a Central Pacific sleeper while he went to wash up, and on returning found that his pocketbook, containing $3000, had disappeared. There was no clew to the thief at the time.

THE Raymond throws open its doors today, though it was virtually open to the public yesterday, and tomorrow a number of guests, will arrive on the second excursion. The visitors will find, we think, a country that in beauty of location and climate will exceed their preconceived ideas, and if they remain during the winter they will carry away a sense of regret.

THE Raymond Hotel and its promoters have done probably more for Pasadena in calling attention to its charms than any one, and it has been done upon the ground that Pasadena was considered the choice spot, where guests could be entertained for an entire season and find the finest scenery and climate in Southern California. Walter Raymond informed the writer that he selected this spot after a careful review and investigation of all California. The other places were beautiful and had fine climate and charms of many kinds, but Pasadena wore the best; and his idea has been shown to be correct. The hotel was considered a foolish scheme by many cool-headed business men, and he carried it through against the advice of The result has been that it is, perhaps, the greatest hotel success in ntry, and has entertained thouthis country, and has entertained thou-sands of eastern people, who have gone sway delighted. The Raymond excur-sions have been the means of bringing hundreds of residents here. Originally they came simply to see the country from the standpoint of the tourist, but, captivated, they remained to become citizens. The mammoth hotel is one of the institutions of Southern Cali-fornia. It is like Barnum, one of the things that all the papers call atten-tion to free, and it deserves it.

THE RAYMOND. The Big Hotel Throws Open Its

Doors. The Raymond was actually opened on Thursday, lunch being served, but today it is open "wide," and tomorrow the first large excursion will arrive, and the large building will take on an appearance of life. Mr. Merrill and brother are in charge, and Mr. Harding arrived yesterday at 12 o'clock. The band was playing in the parlor. getting ready for the fray tomorrow, and the house looked well in every way, and Mr. Merrill looks forward to a successful season. The hotel has never opened at a more favorable time. The early rains have given the country a rich green hue, and the entire country is at its best; the grounds about the Raymond never looked better, the entire place being a vast flower gar-den. Roses of costly varieties by the bushel beautify the place, telling at a glance the floral possibilities of the country. A large number of the oldtimers are coming back. Dr. Meyer has reserved his rooms, and it is be-lieved he will return, and many fa-miliar faces will soon be seen.

THE FIRST EXCURSION. The following is a partial list of the Raymond excursionists who will arrive on Saturday at the great hotel. The total number is upward of 130 persons:

SHOT IN THE HEART.

from Los Angeles Thursday morning, accompanied by Dr. J. J. McCarthy, and held a post-mortem examination, the result of which was that Dr. McCarthy found that Charles Curtis had received a perforating gunshot wound in the breast on the left side, two inches to the right and one-half inch below the left nipple; also, a wound in the back of the chest on the line of the tenth rib, three inches to the right of the middle of the spinal column. He found on internal examination an extensive wound of the heart, and also a wound in the lower border of the right lung. The chest cavity was found to be clogged with blood. Death had been almost instantaneous. The Doctor testified that the wound was beyond doubt produced by a bullet.

At the conclusion of the examination of Dr. McCarthy the courtroom was cleared, and the Coroner's jury was allowed to discuss the case. A few minutes later Coroner Meredith was called, when the following verdict was read: "We, the jury, find that Charles Curtis came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by a bullet fired from a rifle in the hands of Philip Engle."

The crowd then dispersed till 1 p.m.,

ENGLE AS A CITIZEN. entative talked with a number of the residents of Lalaw-abiding citizens, who characterized Engle as the terror of the place.

Numerous instances were recited when Engle in a fit of anger had threatened his neighbors with his rifle, and on one occasion when he had run a partner away with an axfrom a charand on one occasion when he had tub-a partner away with an ar from a char-coal pit which they were burning in company. Another time he threatened to shoot a man for driving over four furrows which he had plowed across what had been an open roadway for a long time.

One man said he was a quiet, peaceable citizen when he wasn't mad or drunk. Of course this was a good recommendation, but the general sentiment is against him.

ment is against him.
Mr. Curtis, uncle of Mrs. Engle, told the reporter that Engle had more than once pressed a revolver against his wife's head, threatening to blow her brains out.

As a matter of course, there is a great diversity of opinion as to Engle's provocation; some consider it a cold-blooded murder, and others look upon it as a case in which Curtis aggravated the assault.

"DOC BLAKNER"

In Jail for Obtaining Money Under

False Pretenses.
There was a colored person in the cold bastille back of the City Hall yesterday, who gave the high-sounding title of "Doc Blakner." Doc is in trouble, and all through trying to help trouble, and all through trying to help another colored brother. His story is a sad one and would fill a page of THE TIMES, but, briefly told, is as follows: Several days ago he procured for another negro named. Robinson a situation at the Acme, as cook, for which Robinson was to pay him $6.

Doc received the $6 in installments, and was to further aid his friend Robinson by putting "his woman" ou the train in Los Angeles and sending her out here.

and was to further aid his friend Robinson by putting "his woman" ou the train in Los Angeles and sending her out here.

The woman referred to is while, and Doc says he didn't feel like mixing up in this business, but did all he could to induce the woman to come out, but the latter refused to appear in Pasadena society without a new dress which should cost $8. Doc wouldn't but the dress, and the white woman wouldn't come out, consequently Robinson had Doc arrested for obtaining money under faise pretenses.

It is a sad commentary on frail human nature.

ABBE LA CORDAIRE, one of the greatest of modern French pulpit orators, was the son of a country physician and born in 1802. Educated for the law, he went to Paris in 1822, to be admitted to the bar. To the amazement of his friends, he abandoned his BY CARRIER: { PER MONTH. 850 his conversion to a secret stroke of grace, which opened his eyes to the and Liberty," or altramontanism in religion and radicalism in politics. La Cordaire made his first attempt as a prescher in 1833, and failed completely. He tried again in the following year and was instantly successful. His tongue had become loosed, and passion, tenderness, irony and wit burst freely from his lips. Three years later he visited Rome, where he resolved to review the Order of Dominican Friars in France. When he reappeared in Notre Dame, he was clothed in the white woolen habit of his order, with shaven head and black scapular. In his zeal he assumed the name of Dominick, wrote a life of the Saint and defended the inquisition. At the same time he contended vigorously for freedom of opinion. "Public conscience," he said in one of his sermons, "will always repel the man who asks for exclusive liberty or forgets the rights of others; for exclusive liberty is but a privilege, and a liberty forgetful of others' rights is nothing better than treason. Yes, Catholics, know this well; if you want liberty for yourselves, you must will it for all men under heaven. If you ask it for yourselves simply it will never be granted; give it where you are masters in order that it may be given you wherever you are slaves." Strange words these, the world thought, from a Dominican monk. Among his last public sayings uttered in Paris was: "I hope to live and die a penitent Catholic and an impenitent Liberal." After the coup d'état of 1852 he was appointed director of the Free College of Soreze, and in 1854 preached his last sermon in Paris. He died November 22, 1861.

sermon in Paris. He died November 22, 1861.

November 22d is consecrated to ST. CECILIA, a Roman lady who was educated as a Christian, and devoted herself to a religious life. Forced by her parents to wed a young nobleman, she succeeded in converting both her husband and his brother the Christianity and with them shared the honors of martyrdom. It is variously stated that Cecilia was boiled in a caldron and that she was left for days to expire gradually, after being half decapitated. St. Cecilia was generally regarded as a patroness of church music, and, indeed, of music generally but the reason of this has never been explained. She is generally represented as singing and playing on some musical instrument or listening to the performance of an angelic visitor. Dryden thus alludes to this story in in his splendid ode for St. Cecilia's At last divine Carlli. IMPORTANT CHANGE OF TIME.

A bit of information from the City Tax Collector's office was ascertained yesterday which is encouraging. It is given out that the delinquent city taxes this year will not amount to more than $60,000. The Tax Collector's office is a scene of bustle and hard work during the closing up of the collections. PERSONAL NEWS.

On Wednesday evening, Hilario Valenzuela, a son-in-law of the convicted murderer, José Piña, imbibed considerable liquor, and proceeded to considerable liquor, and proceeded to make things lively in Santa Monica. Deputy Constable Barreto tried to pacify him and also attempted to arrest him, when he grabbed a stone and assaulted the officer. Barretto would not stand this, and pitched into his man, whom he soon had hors de combat. He then placed him in jail, and yesterday morning the Justice of the Peace at Santa Monica found him guilty of battery, and gave him 150 days in the County Jail, to which institution he was taken.

PROPLE'S STORE,

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22, 1889.

Tomorrow we open our Toy Department, and we want you to pay us a visit. As usual, the display eclipses anything in town. We have received carload after carload of Toys, Dolls, Wagons and other Santa Claus goods; so that we think we can supply everything needed to make home happy. Our large double basement will be used exclusively for this gigantic display, and every effort has been made for the comfort of our patrons who will visit this department.

As for prices, nothing need be sa'd regarding them, for they are always right. As leaders in all lines we handle, we must either be at the head of the class or nothing—no half-way measures. Our prices are the lowest, or we don't trade. We know you'll save money by buying your toys at the People's Store Toy Department. Opening day tomorrow.

Closing Out

We want to apologize to the many lady patrons who visited us on last Saturday and who left our store unwaited on. The rush for our closing out bargains was so great that we could not give every one the necessary attention, but since then we have added five new salesmen to our Clothing Department, and can now handle any rush. We would advise our lady patrons, however, to call during the week, as they will be more promptly waited upon, and will avoid the Saturday crush.
